1. Old Edna Visitors Center

Edna Valley Wine Maps and Stewardship Traveler Discovery Route Maps.

2. 1897 DeSolina

Built in 1897, the beautiful DeSolina House was named after Guido's first love. DeSolina passed at an early age. Sadly, Guido never quite got over it—once a true love, always a true love. Today, it serves as the Edna Valley Bridal Suite and home to the DeSolina House overnight guests, perfect for two.

3. Almas Reading Room

A perfect place to relax. Read and watch all the townsite birds fluttering about their happy little town and watch them swoop down on "Sweet Pepper" and "Shelly" our bug collector, laying hens.

4. Pigeon City

"The Duke's" favorite bird as a boy growing up.

5. 1887 Bluebelly Barn

Built in 1887, the former Tognazzini Dairy Barn was bustling in the early 1900s. Sometimes home to "Stinky Larry" our townsite goat daddy and his female companions. We hope, in the near future, we'll have our very own handmade artisan cheese. Kienun, our most popular deputy, named the Blue Belly Barn when he was just three. He was inspired by the population of Blue Belly Lizards that bask and do their push-ups here daily. The barn houses Kienun's vintage fleet.

6. MacGregor Vineyards

The Historic MacGregor Vineyards was originally planted in the '70s. Rumor has it, they were the first to get their feet wet in the entire Edna Valley. Now, it is owned and operated by Craig and Nancy Stoller of Sextant Wines Windemere Winery. This magical corner is "Deputy Kienun's" favorite spot in all the land.

7. Blacksmith Shop - Gathering Event Room

Late 1800s former Blacksmith Shop turned from Kluvers famous cabinet shop to Willow Nest Antiques. It currently serves as a very quaint and popular room to gather. Share a story and share a meal. It's perfect for small bridal showers, family reunions and relaxing business meetings.

8. Creamery

During the late 1800s the former Creamery stored lots of milk and butter on the way to the General Mercantile (Original "Old Edna" building at the front of the property. Today, it houses our necessary townsite working tools!

9. 1908 Suite Edna Farmhouse Vacation Rental

Built in 1908, this was the original Tognazzini ranch house of Guido, Griselda, Elsie, Lucca and Alma. The heart of the valley, Suite Edna is now home to overnight guests, a delightful place for family and friends to meet and enjoy the true essence of "Old Edna", the Valleys namesake.

10. Kienun's Treehouse

Built in 2002, Kienun's Treehouse was built by Pattea's father, "The Duke", for his grandson. The two had, and still have a very special bond. Years ago, when there was a dancehall upstairs in the tin building, people too tipsy to leave, were tied to the infamous once enormous thriving Pepper Tree. It has had its hay-day, now retired. Though still standing, it lovingly holds the memories of a grandfather and his grandson.

11. Sextant Wine Tasting

The most Historic structure on site, the original Edna Hall was first built in 1900. It burned to the ground two weeks after its opening. The fire erupted due to a modern convenience, some sort of lighting fed the rapidly growing blaze. An exact replica was completely rebuilt in 1908. Home then to a Hotel, General Mercantile, upstairs Dance Hall, and lower level Post Office, this Iconic landmark served as the Edna Valleys "Hub". For years, this locale offered patrons opportunity to share a sense of community while they attended important civic meetings in the upstairs speakeasy and picked up their groceries. To end their visit, they had a sip in one of the three saloons (no longer standing). Now, you will find Sextant Wines Tasting room and Deli. We promise you won't be disappointed.

12. Crib - Ladies in waiting (during Depot days)

Last but not least, the townsite Crib (most all historic town sites with a depot nearby had one or two of these "little houses" on site). Let's just say it was a place where ladies would be waiting during the Depot day! And yes both railways, The Pacific Coast Railway and the Southern Pacific Railway not only passed by but stopped at the Edna depot and brought supplies to our famous little town.

Pi Pi's (pie-pie) Roaming Gypsy Wagon

Built in the '70s by Patteas father, "The Duke" (Walt), for her mother, "PiPi" (Jeannine Della Grace). This was a place where she often slipped away and wrote poetry and entertained her guests. Gypsies roam and so does Pipi's wagon.
